We manufacture jewelry to order of any desired style or pattern.

Our workshop is one of the most complete in the West, and our workmen are thorough, such is his line.

We feel confident of our ability to turn out work equal in every respect to that made in our own shop for the purpose of manufacturing unique patterns of jewelry. Our facilities therefore for the manufacture and repair of goods in our line are unexcelled, and we can turn out work on the shortest notice.

Our machinery is the latest and most approved pattern and our tools have been carefully selected, many of them having been made in our own shop for the purpose of manufacturing unique patterns of jewelry. Our facilities therefore for the manufacture and repair of goods in our line are unexcelled, and we can turn out work on the shortest notice.

We cordially invite the public to call and examine our stock as well as to inspect our workshop which is open during business hours, as it will afford us pleasure to explain to any and all callers the novelties and intricacies of jewelry manufacture.

We are selling goods lower than the lowest, and cheaper than the cheapest.

Now is the time to make selections for the holidays, which are close upon us, and for which we have made provision by adding to our stock late selections of new and stylish patterns.

The Bulletin.

An Old Chum of the Hawaiian King.

A reporter of the Chronicle last evening had an interview with Mr. Alexander McClure, a former troupe performer, but now engaged in a dry goods establishment, in Allegheny. Mr. M. has passed several years in the Hawaiian Islands, was a long time in the customhouse there, and was well acquainted with King Kalakaua long before he was supposed that he would ever reach the throne. During the time that Mr. McClure was in Honolulu, "King Bill," the predecessor of the present monarch, was in power, and the description given of him was in some respects more interesting than his account of King David. In 1870, Mr. M. went to Honolulu with the Gregory troupe, and performed about a month, when he was taken ill with the rheumatism, and when the troupe left for Australia he remained behind, liking the place so well that he concluded to go no further. The climate, he says, is delightful, not varying ten degrees in the entire year. The thermometer stands from 70 to 80 deg. Fahrenheit, and the climate is one of the best in the world for people suffering from lung diseases. Speaking of King David, Mr. M. said: "There was a coffee school in Honolulu kept by a man named H. J. Nolle, and it is customary for business men to go in during the day, and play chess or billiards. I was acquainted with Kalakaua there long before he had any idea of being a king. He was a regular native and would not have much to do with the white people, although I have played billiards with him very frequently. He was a thorough Hawaiian in all his ways and customs, and people generally did not seem to take much interest in him. David always contended that his right to have been King instead of his successor, 'Bill.' He is a very good billiard-player, well educated, and conversant with both French and English literature, and with all something of a poet, having composed several songs which have been set to music. Just before I left Bill lived about three miles from the city, and was an irrecoverable drunkard. He took a great deal of interest in theatrical matters, and would come in nearly every day to the rehearsal, and 'Woodman, Spare that Tree,' was the first thing he would order. One day when we got ready for the performance, the first thing we discovered was King Bill in stage costume, under the influence of liquor and ready to take part. It was difficult to persuade him that he was out of place. The present King, when left Honolulu, was very regular in his habits, and I never saw him under the influence of liquor but once, and that was at a firemen's celebration.

An Actress at the Baptismal Font.

Yesterday morning an interesting ceremony took place in connection with the morning services at St. Peter's Episcopal church. The rector, Rev. Dr. Spalding, officiated and opened the services in the usual way. In accordance with the previous arrangement, Miss Katie Baker, a member of the Opera-house company, presented herself before the baptismal font, indicating her desire for the administration of the sacrament. She was accompanied by Mr. Edwin Price and Miss Miles, also of the Opera-house company, who acted as witnesses in accordance with the ritual of the church. The regular baptismal service was then gone through with by the rector, and Miss Baker was baptized by sprinkling, as was the custom of the church is. After the prayer which followed, Miss Baker, with her attendant friends, took a seat in the audience and remained for the sermon. There were a number of Miss Baker's friends present, including her Opera-house associates, and the occasion was one of unusual interest.

Schenck's Mandrake Pills

Will be equal to possess those qualities necessary to the relief of all the bilious attacks, prompt to start the secretions of the liver, and give a healthy tone to the entire system. Indeed, it is no ordinary discovery in medical science, to have invented a remedy for these stubborn complaints, which develop all the result produced by a heretofore free use of calomel, a mineral justly deemed by many to be acknowledged to be destructive in the extreme to the human system. That the properties of certain vegetables compare all the virtues of calomel without its injurious tendencies, is now an admitted fact, rendered indisputable by scientific researches and those who use the Mandrake Pills will be fully satisfied that the best medicine are those proved by nature in the common articles and roots of the fields. These pills open the bowels, correct all bilious derangements without salivation or any of the injurious effects of calomel or other poisons. The secretions of bile is promoted by these pills, as will be seen by the altered color of the stools, and disappearing of the sallow complexion and cleansing of the tongue. Ample directions accompany each box of pills. Prepared only by J. H. Schenck & Son, at their principal office, corner Sixth and Arch Streets, Philadelphia, and for sale by all druggists and dealers. Price 25 cents per box. 12-1-1874
